

Another major Kinkaid event was the Centennial Gala, held at the Hilton Americas Ballroom. Jim Zura again provided his creative services to produce video segments for the big screen, along with a 3-camera shoot, live-switched.

Retrospective video montages, combined with live performances from the stage, created a moving display of the heritage of Kinkaid.

President George W. Bush provided some memoirs from his days as a student at Kinkaid, and introduced his parents, guests of honor.

George and Barbara Bush expressed their appreciation for Kinkaid's well-rounded education of their children and grandchildren. Emily Crosswell presented George and Barbara Bush with their own unique monogrammed Kinkaid athletic jackets.

After the event, Jim Zura took the multi-camera tapes and edited a highlights program.
